MURCHIE PICKETS DEFEATED

SHERIFF MAINTAINS LAW, ORDER

Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

As Charlie Michelson, head of the Democratic national committee publicity bureau, would say: "The fog is clearing." Tuesday the Murchie mine workers who wish to work met in Armory Hall, selected a chairman and a committee of five and chose an attorney to advise them of their legal rights. With them met some twenty business men of Nevada City who gave them their moral support. At the same time a committee of CIO affiliate members, some of them taking time off from the picket line on the Red Dog highway, met with the Board of Supervisors. Their representatives pleaded for delay and submission of the CIO cause to a labor board conciliator.

The supervisors had been in session but half an hour when there appeared before them a committee chosen by the Murchie miners with their attorney at the Armory hall meeting. The issue was then joined and threshed out before the board. There was much heated debate. But the upshot was reassuring to every citizen who believes in law enforcement. The sheriff received the assurance of the Supervisors that he would have their backing one hundred percent. Meeting in executive session after the public meeting, the board authorized the sheriff to hire 10 extra deputies at $5 a day for 20 days, and also asked the State Traffic patrol to provide for five extra patrolman for keeping the road open.

There was a brief conflict in the road yesterday morning when 100 Murchie miners returned to work. Deputy Sheriff Larsen was hurt. A rock hit his forehead and put him out. Sheriff Carl Tobiassen was hit in the back of the head with a rock. Tear gas used by the Sheriff and the State highway officers caused general weeping. After that a parley was held, the road was cleared and the miners rode through to their work. Some of the pickets were badly hurt as deputies wielded their clubs and billies and some of those openly attempting resistance were jailed.

Gradually the American people are awakening to the fact that their rights under the Constitution are being steadily nibbled away by a small and militant minority which has received special consideration and encouragement under the present national administration. As one by one communities throughout the nation are given a taste of this "new freedom" they reject it The action of Nevada County people and their constituted authorities in rebuking the CIO affiliate in its attempt to "rule or ruin", is typical of action being taken in many larger communities through the United States. For as a matter of fact the Wagner labor act, has not superseded or nullified the other laws, Federal and state, on our statute books. The Wagner act was intended to restore and maintain industrial peace everywhere in this broad land. Whether inadvertently or deliberately, the administration of the act has been placed in hands that distort its meaning, stir up strife, cause strikes and riots.

The Wagner act was intended to safeguard the rights of majorities of employees in all industrial plants that are engaged in interstate commerce. It provides that these majorities may collectively bargain with employers regarding wages, hours and working conditions. It does not provide for instance that 25 or 30 CIO members among the Murchie's 200 workers, shall have the power under any conditions to close the mine. The CIO affiliate hasn't a legal leg or crutch to stand on. Even officials of the CIO called in from the outside in the last few days, privately admit it.

After the demonstration of yesterday morning, of the protection afforded by the state and county authorities to the miners, who had determined among themselves, that they wanted to return to work, every citizen must feel reassured. The tail doesn't really wag the dog. Given time and a liberal education in the methods employed to warp the orderly processes of law, American common sense prevails. Sentiment crystallizes and united action results.

Mine Employment Drops 100 in Month

Owing to labor difficulties in Nevada county several mine owners report that pending arrangements for financing have been held in abeyance until the situation clears.

The Omega gravel mine has increased its working forcest to 60. Norambagua and Daisy Blue and recreased its working forces to 60. Ten men are employed at the Ladybug mine near Washington and it is reported the mill there will soon be in operation.

Owing to picketing, the Murchie which last month reported 230 men at work, now has but 100.

The total number of miners at work as reported today was 2482 with a payroll of $372,300 as compared with 2583 last month and a payroll of $387,450 a difference of nearly $15,000.

MATHEWSON OF U.S. LABOR BOARD ARRIVES IN CITY

Walter E. Mathewson, United Commisioner of Conciliation Service well known leader in California labor circles has arrived from Oakland with Mrs. Mathewson. It is expected that in the next two days he use his good offices to assist in restoring and establishing an a permanent basis, industrial peace in this county.

SCOUT THEME AT ROTARY LUNCH

The meeting of the Rotary club yesterday was given over largely to the scout movement. Nye Johnson, chairman of the day, introduced Sam Partridge of Grass Valley, who displayed two reels of the great international pamboree of scouts in Holland. Harris Ricksecker, Tahoe regional scout executive, introduced E. I. Vredenburgh, assistant national scout director of health and safety in scout organization. Among the songs sung was the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Mr. Vredenburgh called on for a short talk, stated that the national scout organization had taken cognizance of the fact that many fatal accidents occur in the homes. Last year for instance, more than 38,000 died of accidents that took place in their own homes. The scouts are taught to take safety measures to prevent these home accidents. In camp and on hiking tours there are also many perils which can be nullified by physical examination so as to reveal defects which may cause fatalities. For instance a scout with a weak heart must forego swimming and long tiresome hikes.

Of the two reels shown by Sam Partridge, member of the knights of Dunamis, the highest scout order, were extremely interesting. In the second reel, in technicolor, there long sections worthy of presentation in the national film, news services. They told a moving story of scouts gathered from every country in the world with the erception of those where dictatorships have forbidden the international affiliation. Beautiful banners, marching boys in their national costumes, colorful and characteristic. There were boys from India in their six yard turbans, Scot lads in their kilts, Polish boys with their plumed hats. It was colorful and spirited meeting of the world's youth.

LITTLE COLLEEN LEWIS RITES THIS AFTERNOON

The sad news of the death of little eight year old Colleene Lewis, daughter of Mrs. Arline Lewis and the late Kenneth Lewis was brought to Nevada City Tuesday. The little child passed away at the U. C. hospital after an illness of a number of months.

He shows pictures of the people, the fiords, the farms, the cities, the flowers and the architecture. Mr. Kjorlie has pictures of buildings built in the Viking days in almost perfect preservation. Those who have already seen the pictures consider it a rare treat to see them and hear Mr. Kjorlie tell about them.

At Mondays meeting each club member is privileged to bring one guest.

STATEMENT OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Considerable criticism has been expressed with regard to what has been assumed to be the attitude of the District Attorney's office toward the present labor disturbance. This means is taken to restate the position of this office during the present labor trouble, and at all times:

The Sheriff has been fully advised as to the legal aspects of the situation, and has acted and will continue to act in accordance with his responsibility to execute the duties of his office, and in this he will have the full support of the District Attorney's office.

The responsibility of maintaining public peace and preventing personal injury through riots and mob violence is upon the law enforcement officers of the county. At times these duties become more important than the duty of a public officer to protect a citizen in rights such as the free use of highways or the right to work. This is most particularly true when it is not clear that there is no other way out and again when it appears that a clash might eventuate which could not be stopped without bloodshed.

This responsibility has been recognized by the law enforcement officers in this county, and will continue to be recognied. However, a reasonable surety must exist that mob violence will be curbed rather than created by a show of force.

The assumption has been made that the District Attorneys' office, or the Sheriff's office, or both of them have favored one group or another in the present disturbance. Such a belief is entirely false. It is the responsibility of these officials to administer the law entirely without prejudice and insofar as it is humanly possible to do so, it shall be done. Every effort will be made to prevent violence of any sort by anybody, and in event such violence should occur, the apprehension and prosecution of those guilty thereof shall follow immediately.

Miners Return to Work; Peaceful Picketing Is Promised by CIO Group

Under the sheriff's orders that under no circumstances were they to raise a hand or take any part in the fighting that might result in clearing the Red Dog road of pickets and their obstructions, one hundred loyal Murchie miners rode through to their jobs in the mine yesterday morning.

After a pitched battle in which picketers used sticks and hurled rocks, and the peace officers, tear gas and billies, Scott Erwin, Idaho organizer of the CIO affiliates, who seemed to be in general command of the pickets, acknowledged defeat and agreed to leave on the road five or six "peaceful" pickets, who might display their banners if they so desired. Fortunately no firearms were discharged. There were four arrests of picketers, some of them seriously mauled with billies.

Approximately twenty cars of miners gathered on the lower Grass Valley road shortly after six o'clock yesterday morning, and preceded by Sheriff Carl Tobiassen and a dozen deputies, and twelve or more State Traffic patrolmen under Captain Blake, proceeded to the junction of the Murchie mine and the Red Dog road.

There they found the road blocked by between 80 and 100 CIO pickets and "sympathizers." A car belonging to Caribini Orzalli, had been turned over a short distance from the Red Dog road on the little rise that leads into the mine. The pickets made their stand at the junction of the two roads. Sheriff Tobiassen, Undersheriff Bill Woods and Deputy Carl Larsen led their special deputies to the menacing line of pickets blocking the road. Then the trouble started. Carl Larsen was struck on the left cheek bone with a stone hurled by one of the pickets. He was knocked back against a car, stunned for a moment, then came up fighting.

Larsen's cheek was bleeding profusely but he collared a man who was making an attack on him while he was down, and brought him into the county jail. Frank Misner, a special deputy, went down with three men on top of him, knocked out two, and came up with plenty of fight left to put a third man under arrest.

Having hurled his rock at Larsen, his assailant scuttled for the tall timber, but the sheriff has a description of him.

Rocks hurled by the picketers found their mark on the big stature of the sheriff. There were cries of "get the big brute," "get the big fella." A rock hit him in the back of the neck and the sheriff went to his knees, shook his head to recover his senses, was up again when another rock hit him in the stomach. The sheriff roared: "I'll kill the next man that throws a rock." Rock throwing stopped then and there but fist fighting continued. Sheriff Tobiassen hurled a tear gas bomb. It was of the repeater type. It happened to hit one of the picketers, exploded, bounced into the air and exploded again.

The Traffic Patrol which had been standing by, were called upon by the sheriff to assist in the emergency and opened fire with tear gas guns. This put the crowd of pickets to flight. The road was cleared and Scott Erwin asked for a truce. The terms agreed upon were stated above. Orzalli's car was turned over on its wheels and moved off the road. The caravan of Murchie men moved through the sullen crowd and went back to work in the mine.

Sheriff Tobiassen discuscussing the fight afterwards stated: "I heard there were some tough babies out here from the Butte gang who were intent on making the little fracas very interesting These hard characters I made my business to identify several days ago, and was pleased to notice they were keeping well to the rear, interested spectators, as it were.

"Two of the most obstreperous road blockaders were a Chinese groceryman, named Yuen, who has a grocery store on Sacramento street, and a Greek, named Vasion, who conducts a cleaning establishment on Commercial street. Vasion really led the fighting at times. Al Garesio, the secretary or financial head of the local organization, was not present. Jay Green, the CIO pamphletter was also absent. "Curly" Gilbert was another "absentee."

Frank Misner, special deputy came out of the battle with many cuts and contusions on his face. Deputy Carl Larsen will probably carry a scar for the rest of his life on his left cheek.

Pickets or "sympathizers" arrested were Jim Vasion, Greek cleaning works proprietor, Henry Yuen, Chinese groceryman, C. E. Circle, Roy Staton, and Grant Spear. Among those who threw rocks and ran away into the brush were Peter Zdrich, who has been employed by the city as foreman of a sidewalk crew of WPA men. The peace officers found him and lodged him in jail.

Regardless of the peace pact entered into with Scott Erwin, CIO organizer, Sheriff Tobiassen states that he will be prepared to maintain an open road to the Murchie mine at all times. Special deppties are now posted there.

The decision to resume work in the Murchie was made Wednesday evening following a conference among the mine officials, which included Fred Searls, president of the Murchie Mining company, Robert Searls, attorney for the company and Superintendent Robert Hendricks. The sheriff was notified, in case there should be any disturbance, and was ready yesterday morning with his deputies to see that order was maintained.

HIGHGRADE ORE STOLEN FROM STOCKTON HILL

That $800 worth of gold ore was stolen from the company's office was reported to the sheriff Wednesday by Walter and Eric Wooch who hold an option to purchase the Stockton Hill mine south of Grass Valley. Wooch said the high grade ore was in wooden cases in the office and the cases were broken into.

The Week

By H. M. L. Jr.

A committee of three men representing the local C. I. O. affiliate appeared Tuesday afternoon before a special session of the county Board of Supervisors, held at the request of the C. I. O. affiliate in order to consider defining the powers of Sheriff Carl Tobiassen in respect to the present situation at the Murchie mine. The session, no doubt partially due to the fact that the sheriff's powers are precisely and irrevocably defined by law, developed into a forum upon the rights and grievances of all the parties involved. Al Garescio, financial secretary, of the local C. I. O. affiliate, Frederic Bianci, and Scott Erwin, international representatives of the affiliate spoke before the board to ask for a "hands off" policy by the supervisors and the sheriff. They also answered questions on procedure and policy of the union The union representatives were questioned by Sheriff Tobiassen, Supervisor Arbogast, John O'Neill, George Calanan, and a committee, representing loyal Murchie miners, with their attorney. Ward Sreldon, Harold Deeter and others. Tony Deschwanden and Gene Tucker also spoke for the loyal miners.

Ward Sheldon, attorney representing one hundred and forty loyal Murchie miners, asked Scott Erwin union representative, why the CIO affiliate had called a lock out before complaining to the management or making a protest to the Labor Relations Board, as is the proper procedure under the Wagner Act. Erwin did not answer the question, merely stating that the situation was brought about before he was called into the community.

Erwin maintained that no one in the community was working harder in the interests of law and order than the CIO. Sheriff Tobiassen asserted that this had not been true in the past and that in this case the CIO affiliate was "trying to make a jackass out of law and order." Tobiassen cited the incident Tuesday in which he said, a member of the CIO affiliate had driven a truck intentionally into Superintendent Hendricks car. He charged that the truck had blocked the road and that whenever he came out to investigate, the truck was either backing around or pulling off the road. He said his appearance at the picket line was met by profane epithets addressed ot him by the pickets.

In response to a question by Supervisor Arbogast, who asked if Erwin thought the government would force the Murchie to resume work at a loss, as it is generally understood it is now working, the union spokesman replied that he knew the Murchie was paying; that he believed that "gobs" were put over high grade ore in certain places of the mine. He cited the case of the January reduction of the price of silver. He attributed this reduction to an anti-labor policy on the part of the producers, and to the hostility of the government toward the producers because of their alleged anti-labor policy. Erwin warned the board of supervisors that if the government were forced to spend many thousands of dollars in arbitrating Nevada county labor disputes, the price of gold would be lowered.

When asked what right picketers have to block traffic, the union representative said that that would depend on the type of traffic attempting to pass through. In connection with the position of the picketeers, Erwin explained that these men were in a desperate situation. They were, he said, faced with permanent loss of employment in this community. Not only headed, with the loss of employment but with the handicap of being labelled "union men" and blacklisted on all non-union mines throughout the west. Because of this situation Erwin declared that it was the union's duty to go to the limit to protect the men on the picket line.

Al Garesio, financial secretary of the union, declared, in what was perhaps the clearest statement of union grievances of the day, that in March 1937, Local 283 had organized a large majority at the Murchie. He stated that at that time the CIO affiliate asked to hold a vote to elect the organization as bargaining agent, but were refused by the management. Since then, Garesio stated, the Murchie management had fired two sets of union officers, before the present layoff, which included an unstated number of CIO men. Sheriff Tobiassen stated in reply, that discharged members of the CIO had been surely, refusing to take orders from the shift bosses and constantly haranguing other workers.

UP-SE-DAISY!

Just Wonderin'

I wonder if there's any trait
That could be more desirable;
It can't be bought, it can't be sold,
But still it is acquirable.
Mid scenes of pleasure or of strife
It moves with even pace,
And lends to many a circumstance
It's wisdom, strength and grace.

I wonder why the most useful and engaging of human attributes received the unattractive name, tact. It should immediately be given an unpronouncable foreign name, Latin preferred, done into a philosophy and taught in the schools through all grades and periods from A B to B. A. Thereafter, post graduate courses should be arranged and made an important part of life long learning.

Tact is the instrument with which human relationships are adjusted, lubricated and kept in smooth running order. It it greater than either politeness or diplomacy, which may be but shining outer garments worn upon occasion, and laid aside at will. Tact emanates from a wise and understanding mind, alive to the rights and feelings of others, and animated by a genuine desire to live harmoniously with others. It enables one to meet the complexities of daily living with assurancce and to cope with and control difficult situations without loss of poise and dignity. It marks its possessor as a man of "polished manners and fine sense," tolerance and humane impulses; it wins for him respect and abiding friendships and more often than otherwise, proves to be open sesame to the realization of his cherished dreams and ambitions. A valuable asset is tact; therefore, to paraphrase a bit of homely wisdom, "git tact and when you're gettin', git aplenty."

I wonder why so many ancient specters are riding the wind just now; here's old single tax swishing into our midst with a rustle of ghostly cerements. We thought we had heard the last of that one years ago.

I wonder why Herr Hitler was so incensed by the utterances of William E. Dodd. Doesn't he know that over here we do our own thinking and speaking without benefit of dictators? It's an old and quite incurable American habit; one can't goose step to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner.

Uncle Silas says: "now that the annual blue jay slaughter is over. I can wear my blue beanie up to the wood lot, without being mistook for one of the crested kind, and shot clean through the pom-pom."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By MARY MARTZ

The Nevada City high school was entertained on Wednesday by motion pictures taken by Mr. Kjorlie, when he was on his vacation in Norway and Sweden last summer. The pictures were partly in color and showed the glorious color of the fiords and surrounding country. It also showed the native dress of the people of Norway and Sweden.

The inter-class basket ball games played this week on Monday and Tuesday resulted in the sophomores being victorious over the freshmen and the juniors winning from the seniors. The sophomore's high point man was Ellsworth Pingree with Hobart Childers a close second, Bub Tobiassen and Bill Joyal were the stars on the junior team. More games will be played to determine the high school champions.

The Girls League luncheon held on Tuesday was a success and one hundred plates were sold. The luncheon was very delicious and a credit to the cooking department. Dancing after the luncheon was held in the gymnasium to the tune of Cliff Hoff's orchestra. Members of this orchestra were Cliff Hoff, Melvin Clark, Hershal Lotz, Marlyn Young, Phil Angove, Karl Kopp and Bill Sharp.

NOT GUILTY OF MALICIOUS MISCHIEF

Millard Stockdale and Frank Cal, charged with malicious mischief were judged not guilty by a jury in Justice W. L. Mobley's court. W. E. Wright defended the men in the charge of shooting a lock off a gate leading into the E. F. Hughes property west of Grass Valley. The defense was based on the fact that the road had been used as a public road and an easement thereon had been acquired by the public.

"DEAD END" PICTURES N. Y. EASTSIDE

Julie Heron stood on a tenement fire escape hanging out the washing. It was a big one. There were ten shirts, three sheets, two wash dresses and two pairs of long woolen underwear.

Miss Heron isn't a laundress. She's chief of the set dressing department of the Samuel Goldwyn Studio, and when she hung out the washing she was dressing the set for "Dead End," the film version of the Sidney Kingsley stage play, which brings Sylvia Sidney and Joel McCrea to the Nevada Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Miss Heron wasn't born on New York's east side but Irving Sindler, who was technical adviser on the "Dead End" set dressing job, was. Sindler is a property man at the Goldwyn Studio, but because he knows the New York slums like a book, Miss Heron called on him for advice.

Those who have seen the "Dead End" set say it's the best job of set dressing done in these parts for a good many years. To begin with, Miss Heron and Sindler had a fine set to work on—one of Art Director Rechard Day's best efforts. Even "undressed" it looked like a street in the heart of the tenement district. But when Miss Heron and Sindler got through with it, it was even better.

Dressing a set is not a simple task. Good set dressers know that a set can very easily be overdressed. That detracts from effectiveness.

Miss Heron feels that one can be too realistic. She strives to give the impression of squalor rathes than making the setting entirely squalid. One dirty mop hanging from o window can be much more effective than ten dirty mops hanging fsom ten windows, she feels. One refuse can on a stoop is more effective than three.

There are a lot of nice little set-dressing "touches" on the "Dead End" street. On the big sand hopper in the foreground there is a hoop with a bit of fish net hanging from it. It looks as though some poor boys who wanted to play basketball had fashioned it and nailed it there. On one doorstep there is a can of Bon Ami. On another there is an old pitcher. On a window tow stories above the street there is a soiled pillow. That's for the occupant to learn her elbows on when she sits in the window looking at what's going on below.

On some of the fire escapes there are mattresses, for the action of "Dead End" takes place in the heart of summer and it's too hot to sleep inside. There are clothes lines stretched between some of the buildings and from some of the fire escapes—but not too many—and there aren't too many clothes hanging on them.

On the uneven pavement are scraps of paper, empty cigarette packages, match sticks and the like. But when you look at the street closely you ses it isn't filthy—it just gives the impression or being that.

It took Miss Heron, Sindler and her other assistants two weeks to dress the "Dead End" set inside and out. There was a grocerf store to stock, a pool hall to equip, a restaurant to furnish. There were tenement apartments that had to look like tenement apartments. But when they got through they had something Sindler says the set's so real it makes him homesick for the east side.

"Dead End" is released through United Artists.

TOBACCO ROAD SHOWN IN SACTO. JANUARY 31

CACRAMENTO, Jan. 21. — "Tobacco Road" the sensational Jack Kirkland drama of the South's "poor whites," now in it's fifth straight year in New York, will be presented at the Roxie theatre, Sacramento for three performances starting Monday night January 31.

John Barton appears in the lead role of the philosophic "Jeeter" in the epochal production which has created more discussion than any play staged in the last 25 years, and which appears to set a new record for a continuous run on Broadway.

"Tobacco Road," which will be presented Monday night, January 31 with a matinee and evening performances Tuesday, February 1, is a realistic portrayal of the tragic lives of the poor share croppers in the Georgia back country who know only their religion They are content with their lot because they have experienced no other. Their greatest virtue is their love of the land which they have inherited from generations of farmer ancestors.

Out of the routine of their daily lives comes the humor and tragedy of "Tobacco Road," which has been hailed by eastern critics as the "epic American play." It has stimulated congress to order an investigation of their plight.

The New York company has played some 1,800 performances, with an estimated audience of 2,000,000 persons while road units have appeared in 175 American cities and in Europe, with return engagements being played in most cases. The advance seat sale is being conducted by Ye Music Shoppe, 1014 Tenth Street, Sacramento. Mail orders are being accepted.

Others in the cast are Florence Gerald, Patricia Quinn, Pitt Herbert, Kay Thorne, William Bishop, Sondra Johnson, Walter Ayers, Lillian Ardell, Rheet Townes and Dick Lee.

Auburn Junior College Housed in New Building

New Placer Junior College classroom building at Auburn. This building will be used when the second semester opens January 24th.

Placer Junior College of Auburn begins the second term of the school year next Monday, when registration opens for the spring semester.

The new term will also mark the first use of the new class room building of the college, just completed on the seven acre campus tract purchased by the board.

Dr. John H. Napier, Jr., district superintendent, has moved all classes that do not require special equipment into this new building.

Registration for the second semester has been set for January 24 and 25 by associate dean Wyman E. Olson. Olson will be on duty both days to register old and new students.

Class instruction begins January 26. A full lower division college course is offered, enabling students to transfer to four year colleges on the basis of satisfactory work done in junior college.

Excellent terminal courses, adapted to the foothill region ,are also offered. Especially popular and adequate is the commercial department, for which much new equipment has been provided by the board of trustees.

Advanced and scientific courses, dealing with home management, are offered for both old and new students enrolling during the second semester.

Extra curricular activities include opportunities for participation in music, dramatics, journalism, and athletics on a high plane.

The school holds membership in the Northern California Junior College conference.

Adequate transportation facilities are available at no cost to the students from Roseville, Colfax, Grass Valley and Nevada City, as well as points along these routes.

MINING ACTIVITIES

PENNSYLVANIA MINE

A new 75 ton ball mill is being installed at the Pennsylvania mine of the Empire-Star group at Browns Valley. The stamp mill at the property is also being remodeled. It is expected 50 per cent of the material from the stamps will go through the new mill, the balance being sufficiently crushed by the stamps. The shaft now is 1100 feet deep.

STOCKTON HILL

Drifting is being done on the vein at the 350 foot or bottom level of the Stockton Hill mine shaft. A rich strike of ore was made at Christmas time and the operators are pleased with prospects of bringing in a producer.

RELIEF HILL AND LUCKY JANE MINES

Four men continue preparations for gravel mining at the elief Hill gravel mine near North Bloomfield under management of Superintendent C. E. Clark. All work has been suspended temporarily at the Lucky Jane mine and it is expected it will be resumed in March or April owing to weather conditions. No hydraulicking is contemplated until completon of the Narrows debris dam near Smartsville. Mr. Clark, an ardent worker in C. H. M. A., expects actual construction of the Narrows dam to start in June. The dam will be pretty well along the latter part of this year and will be completed the latter part of 1939, but sufficient water will not have falled to start hydraulic operations and they will actually start in 1940. He expects work will start on the dams on the middle and north forks of the American river about March or April of this year.

ESPERENCE PROPERTY

Gravel deposits of the old Esperence mine near French Corral are, it is stated, being tested by the Yuba Consolidated Gold Fields, Inc. Two shifts of 10 men are employed on the 320 acre property. F. C. VanDeinse of San Francisco is vice president.

NORAMBAGUE PROPERTY

Leasors of the Norambagua property south of Grass Valley have added to their holdings and some of the property under option to them are the Morandi, Lady Jane Ranch, Perrin and Rodda. A diamond drilling program is underway to determine ore bodies.

WATSON AND BETCHER PROPERTIES

O. E. Betcher stated last week that the Watson and Betcher property may soon be open to lease. Some very fine prospects have been shown in surface development. A rich pay shoot was found in surface workings by a Chinaman in pioneer days.

NATIVE SON MINE

Sampling ore bodies is being carried out at the Native Son mine six miles north of Nevada City by Eastern interests who are preparing for development Denton and Ralph Kirkham, sons of the late Thomas Kirkham who own the propertty, have an interest in operations.

MATTIE PROPERTY

C. L. Best, owner of the 600 acre Mattie, or better known old Alcalde mine sold it recently to Pacific coast interests. This property is in the Rough and Ready district.

ARCTIC MINE

Seven men are employed at the Arctic mine above Washington. A 300 foot raise is being driven at the end of the 600 foot tunnel on a four foot vein of ore that assays well. The new raise will give the company 300 feet of backc to mine.

McKENZIE MINE

The hoist has been installed over the shaft on the 240 acre McKenzie mine west of Nevada City. Leasors struck ore at 26 feet in a 42 foot shaft. Plans are to sink an additional 50 feet and drift both ways on the vein. John Craig assisted his aunt, Mrs. McKenzie in leasing the property. His grandfather, the late Randolph Craig who came to Nevada City in 1849, operated this property which has been in the family 85 years. Mr. Craig states $90,000 in gold was mined at the old price of gold, one 65 foot shaft driven to bedrock produced $60,000. All development in past years has been surface work.

LADY BUG PROPERTY

Development work has just started at the Lady Bug mine northeast of Washington. All work done in recent weeks has been repair and rehabilitation. Probably in the next ten days the 10 stamp mill will get started and milling capacity of the mill will be increased as ore is mined.

OMEGA GRAVEL MINE

Construction of the temporary debris dam at the Omega gravel mine east of Washington is well under way. This dam is expected to hold a million yards of debris and will be in use until the Narrows dam is ready to hold the tailings and debris from mines along the Yuba rivers.

SPRING HILL MINE

Drifting is being done in the lower levels of the Spring Hill mine north of Grass Valley and miners are taking out good looking ore. The shaft is down 1300 feet and some new machinery was installed recently in the mill to aid gold recovery. C. Cushwa is in charge.

BULLION MINE

Ore is being stoped at the Bullion mine south of Grass Valley. Miners are taking out enough ore to keep 10 stamps of the old Idaho Maryland mill in operation. Trucks haul the ore from the Bullion mine to the mill. Howard Dennis is superintendent.

Jack Lopez has four men employed on a gravel property adjoining the Penn Dredging company on Deer Creek near the Anthony House of Bridgeport.

MINORITY USE LAW TO LOAD STATE BALLOT

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20. — A warning against the activities of so-called "ballot racketeers" was issued today by R. E. Collins, chairman of the State Board of Equalization who called to the attention of business men in particular that they were being made the victims of a variety of questionable political schemes.

"One of the weaknesses of California's initiative and referendum system of bringing proposals to a vote of the people is the ease with which it lends itself to abuse by racketeers," Collins said.

"The circulation of petitions, organizations of societies, and collection of funds for the passage or the repeal of this or that has been a virtual field in the past, and will be in the immediate future, especially with a general election coming up this year. This is particularly true of propositions relating to taxes.

"Every citizen of California should realize that thousands of dollars have been contributed for causes which never have materialized.

"If you are asked to contribute funds, ask the solicitor where the money is going. For what is it to be used? How much goes into his pocket? A little investigation along line will save every person needless expense and likely reveal how many of these persuasive gentlemen have been obtaining a substantial income by this means," Collins explained.

The Board chairman further pointed out that many of the so-called "non-profit" corporations lived up to their name only in so far as the profit was limited to the organizer and solicitor.

NEW EXPLOSIVES DISCOVERED BY U. C. STUDENT

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—Two mysterious new explosives, believed to be the most powerful in the world, whose secret formulae are designated only by a cryptic, "RPX," have been invented by a 24 year old University of California graduate student Wendell Zimmerman. Already these new explosives have drawn the attention of the United States War Department and the corrseponding agencies of England and Germany.

In August, 1936, while working in a basement laboratory at his home in La Grange, Illinois, Zimmerman stumbled on a group of explosives operating on a principle generally neglected by other scientists. Working with this group, he developed his two new explosives which are respectively 15 and 25 times more powerful than TNT.

While unwilling to reveal the formulae for these new destructive forces, the inventor admits that the principle behind them is entirely different from that on which TNT and nitroglycerine are based. The "RPX" explosives are made up of solid constituents, which are unexplosive when taken alone and which have very simple molecular structure. The gaseous products of their explosion are also very simple in structure. Because these simple products do not absorb as much energy at the time of explosion as do the complex products of such common explosives as TNT, the "RPX" explosives are relatively much more powerful. They produce temperatures much hotter than those produced by any other explosive now used commercially, and give rise to great pressures, in some cases as high as 15 million pounds to the square inch.

Because of their greater stability these new explosives are much safer to handle than nitroglycerin. Because of this Zimmerman believes they would be particularly adapted to use in drilling oil wells, a task in which the accident hazard from using nitroglycerin is now very great.

Zimmerman's main interest is not in explosives but in finding the secret of atomic structure. He believes that in studying explosives he can find out more about the structure of matter and the pattern of the atom.

He also believes that his new explosives may be of value in rocket research. He hopes that some day they may be used to send rockets higher into the air than ever before to gather meteorological data.

FARM PRODUCE PRICE SHOWS FURTHER DECLINE

BERKELEY, Jan. 20.—For the first time in many months December farm prices in California, as indicated by the quotations on 24 leading items, failed to reach the figures achieved for the same month in the so-called "normal period," 1910 to 1915. As against an index of 100 for the normal period, last month showed 99. Likewise the December, 1937, prices in this combination were but 65 per cent of the December prices in the years 1924 to 1929, the so-called "boom" years.

Twelve of the items, however, beef cattle, veal calves, sheep, lambs, milk, milk fat, butter, chickens, horses oats, hay (other than alfalfa), and lemons scored an increase over December of 1936. However, fourteen of the items, beef cattle, hogs, butter, eggs, chickens, horses, wheat, corn, alfalfa hay, other hay, cotton, oranges, lemons and apples sold higher in November, 1937, than they did last month and a substantial number of the items in November showed a decline from the month before.

The figures were prepared by the Giannini Foundation of the University of California, which offered no analysis. Economic analysts may lay some of the declines to seasonal slump and the normal contraction of farm products income in the late winter months, while still others may relate it to the so-called business "recession," if one exists. It is significant, however, that last Janr figures were 123 per cent of the 1910 to 1925 index, while at the last check, they were 99 per cent.

Capital Business

Compiled by Sacramento Chamber of Commerce

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 21.—Within approximately two months the hospital, administration building, fire station, guard house and the barracks will be completed at the Sacramento Air Depot, Robert D. Swift, Chief Engineer, indicated this week.

The administration building, modernistic in every detail, will have an inlaid map of the western hemisphere, with Sacramento in the center, on the terrazo floor of the building's lobby.

Work will soon begin on the depot's ruuways and testing block. These are the only large units which have not been started. The testing block is to be placed in an isolated section of the depot because of the noise created in testing the motors.

Although most units are scheduled to be finished this year, the entire project will not be completed until spring or summer of 1939.

Tentative plans for the celebration of Sacramento's 100th birthday in 1939 were announced this week by the Sacramento Golden Empire Centennial Committee. The celebration will start February 18 and extend to December 2 next year, coinciding with the dates of the Golden Gate International Exposition at San Francisco.

Highlights of the program will include construction of a replica of the "Hangtown of '49"; rehabilitation and animation of Sutter's Fort; establishment of Sutter Par, a recreational center, on the American river at the place where Sutter landed August 12, 1839; revival of the whiskering club and a contest to find the longest whiskers in America; and a brilliant parade five miles long portraying the history of trsportation in the Golden Empire in the past 100 years; a spectacular pageant in Sacramento's stadium August 9, 10, 11 and 12, 1939, with 3500 persons tracing the history of Sacramento; and a series of home coming weeks in cities throughout the Golden Empire area.

Harold J. McCurry, chairman in charge of the event, said that the celebration will cost approximately $200,000.

BORDER REGISTRATION IS DISAPPROVED

Immediate abandonment of California's border registration stations and discontinuance of regstraton of non-resident mo.or vehicles, was recommended by the Sacramento Valley Council of the State Chamber of Commerce at its recent meeting. It was pointed out that California is leading the way on a national scale of eliminating travel inconveniences and practical "trade walls."

(The Registration Stations must not be confused with the Agricultural Inspection Stations, which the State Chamber apyroves.)

NEVADA CO. SAFETY COUNCIL OPENS SCHOOL

The first class of the Traffic School of the Nevada County Safety Council will be held Friday evening in the study hall of the James S. Hennessy School on Auburn street. The class is called for 8 o'clock. It was at first planned to hold the classes in the court room of Judge Morehouse but through the kindness of Mr. Hennessy permission was given for the use of the room at the school.

The Traffic School is approved by the California Department of Motor Vehicles and is under the auspices of the Nevada County Safety Council of which Eben Smart is chairman and Judge Raglan Tuttle, president. Frank A. Crampton who has for some years past made a study of safety engineering and traffic problems will be the instructor.

Six lectures comprise the course, the first being held in Grass Valley and the second series of six lectures are to be held at Nevada City. It is also planned to take the course to Truckee from which place it is difficult for those wishing to take the instruction to attend either at Nevada City or Grass Valley.

The course is divided into six lectures which entirely cover the mechanics, laws and other factors entering into the operation of motor vehicles. The first lecture deals with the physical aspects of driving which include the stopping possibilities under various conditions, the re-action or thinking time required for a driver to act, the momentum of force of a car at various speeds, cautions required at blind intersections and the responsibiltiies of the driver in relation to weather, road and driving conditions. The lectures will be illustrated by a large model of roads and city streets, miniature cars will be used to demonstrate the features dealt with in the lecture.

The following lectures will deal with destruction and causes of accidents relating to the many forms of accidents will be dealt with in detail. Actual cases involving collisions will be discussed. The California Vehicle Code will be discussed and explained in detail. At least two of the class lectures will be confined to questions and answers and the discussion of problems presented to the instructor for clarification.

Mr. Crampton has arranged to have available for each of those attending the classes copies of the California Vehicle Code as well as text books and literature apertaining to the subject of traffic safety. No charge will be made either for the instruction or for the small text books for those attending.

To further illustrate the traffic safety problem motion pictures will be shown during one of the later lecture periods in order to complete the illustration of the subject through visual means.

The subject of traffic safety is one of the gravest and most important within local and state communities and it has been found that in each locality where a traffic school has been inaugurated under the auspices of a County Safety Council, accidents have been greatly decreased. During 1937 there were about 4,000 persons killed and over one million injured through automobile accidents in the United States, the number killed being almost equal to the number of American soldiers killed in the Great War.

Contrary to the general impression the subject of traffic safety, as taught in the course now being inaugurated; is not dull but is one of the most interesting of subjects and the course is such that the interest of those attending is held at all times. The success of the course has been attested many times and complimented by those who have attended.

Anyone wishing to attend may do so and all persons who are interested in traffic safety and the reduction of the unnecessary death rate from automotive accidents are cordially invited to attend. Enrollment may be made at the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce, the office of the California Highway Patrol, the office of Judge Morehouse or with Mr Houser at the Dennessy School. Those who cannot spare the time for enrollment may do so at the class room immediately before the lecture which will commence promptly at 8 o'clock in the evening of Friday January 21, and on each succeeding Friday at the same hour. There are no charges for the series of lectures.

Pirate and Papoose

This pretty "pirate girl" found this Indian papoose at Hopi House, Grand Canyon, Ariz. The "pirate girl" is Zoe Dell Lantis who visited the Hopis while touring the Southwest in the interests of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, to be held on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay in 1939.

LYDA TALBOT NEW N. D. G. W. PRESIDENT

Laurel Parlor, N. D. G. W. No 6 in a most beautiful and impressive semi-public service installed officers for the ensuing six months. About 160 members, visitors and guests were present. District Deputy Grand President Louise Wales of Grass Valley was installing officer, assisted by Grand Marshal Grace Eva also of Grass Valley.

Officers installed were: Mrs. Lyda Talbot, president; Mrs. Effie Goering, past president; first, second and third vice presidents, Teresa Alaria, Esther Tremaine, and Jean Gleason; Miss Frances Elierman, organist; Mrs. Nellie Clark, recording secretary; Mrs. Fred Tredennick, financial secretary; Trustees, Mrs. Annie Darke, Mrs. George Calanan; Sentinels, Mrs. Josie Muscardini, Mrs. Adeline O'Connor; Mrs. Annie Hopoer, marshal. At completion of installation the newly installed president sweetly sang, "I Love You California," and made a touching little talk. Bouquets were presented Mrs. Allison Watt, past grand president of the state of California and charter member of Manzanita Parlor of Grass Valley; Mrs. Zoe Kagerer, past president and Mrs. Nellie Clark, secretary of Laurel Parlor.

Mrs. Belle Douglass was chosen to take charge of the program. She stated the local parlor was 51 years old and was the only womans local lodge at the time of its institution. Founded on love of home, devotion to God and country and veneration of pioneers, the lodge progressed rapidly. It soon united with several other local organizations. The late Mrs. J. M. Walling, started the present Benevolent Society.

The outstanding work of the order is voluntary contributions to orphans and assisting in their adoption. Nearly 5000 children in California have been given homes through their united work with the Native Sons of the state. A scrapbook committee is collecting many pioneer facts of deep interest.

Mrs. Esther Sullivan, native of Nevada county, now residing in Marysville and party, were present. Mrs. Sullivan gave a splendid talk on early California history touching on pioneers Merritt, John Ide and Robert Semple, also a meeting of pioneers with John Fremont who was camped in the Sutter Buttes in 1846, or at the time of the forming of a party to declare this new country a portion of the United States. The order of N. D. G. W. purchased a grove of redwood trees in Mendocino county to preserve to future generations.

The Native Daughters maintain a home for aged in San Francisco; the historic division gathers pioneer relics, preserves pioneer history and relics and preserves historic spots. Mission restoration is carried out, one mission being selected each year by California Landmarks association. The veteran welfare department to shut-ins at hospitals, particularly by nearby lodges, gives happiness through little luxuries and attention. Three scholarships are maintained, one to Mills College, and the others to Universitse of California at Berkeley and Los Angeles.

A dainty gift was presented the retiring president Mrs. Effie Goering. Mrs. Allison Watt, revered pioneer of Grass Valley made the trip specially to see her goddaughter, Lyda Talbot, installed as president and paid her touching compliments. Mrs. Watt loves this city, her first composition being read on top of Sugar Loaf. She recalls the school house where the Episcopal church now stands. Among guest speakers Mrs. ampson, president of Manzanita Parlor of Grass Valley, made a pleasing little talk. A delicious dinner was served in the banquet room of Odd Fellows lodge at the close of the meeting. Beautiful flowers and acacia blooms and branches were used to decorate the hall and banquet room.

Living charter members of Laurel Parlor are: Mrs. Ella Austin, Mrs. Lulu Jones, Mrs. Belle Douglass, Mrs. Grace Nilon.

Martin, 23, who have been lodged in the county jail since January 10, to Oakland where they will answer a Dyer act charge for taking a stolen automobile into another state.
